"Carousel" Theme Of Annual Dance

"Carousel" was the theme of the Morrison-Driscoll hall's spring semi-formal dance held last Friday in the Student Union.

The theme was carried out in the decorations by a large carousel in the middle of the dance floor.

Horses were connected to the carousel, and a "ticket booth" where the programs were given was featured.

Refreshments were served at a "hot dog stand."

BJC Presents Exhibit

The annual BJC spring art exhibit will take place on May 1st, running through the 6th. Art work on display will be that of the students and faculty of BJC.

The display section will be in the hall of the Science building, from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. on weekdays. On Sunday, the 1st, the display will be open from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Refreshments will be served on Sunday.

Students Prepare For Elections

This year's nominations for future student body officers took place on Thursday, May 15th, in the Student Union.

Nominated for student body president were Lavon Shelton and Cal Colberg.

As a possible student-activity project for the coming year, a foot bridge across the Boise river to Julia Davis park was suggested by Roy Bowman, who is running against Ron Spencer for vice president.

Pam Montrose and Mary Ann Reese are running for secretary.

Darylann Fredricks and Joe Wylie are vying for the office of treasurer.

Nominated for sophomore representative were Monte Silliman, Terry Butler, Jack Ogden, Tanya Morris, Jerry Wennstrom and Gay Gelbel.

The run-off elections will be held on Thursday, April 21. The polls will be open all day, and voters will be required to show their student identity cards.

The ballot box will be located in the main hall of the Administration building.

During the past few years participation in the voting has included about half the eligible voters at the college.

BJC Symphony Presents Concert

On Friday evening, April 22, the BJC-Community symphony will present its final concert of the season. This is the third concert by the orchestra for this school year. Under the direction of Mr. John Best, the orchestra has had a very successful season.

Friday's concert will feature a former member of the BJC piano faculty, Adelaide Anderson Wayne will play the Schumann piano Concerto in A Minor. Mrs. Wayne was, for many years, the head of the piano department. It will be a pleasure to welcome Mrs. Wayne back to the stage of the BJC auditorium to perform this popular work with the orchestra.

It is its only concert out of town

Weekly Devotional

Holy Week devotional services will be held Wednesday morning during the regular devotional period at 9:30 in the Music auditorium. The Reverend Phillip Hurd of the Second Christian church will read the Scriptures. The a capella choir will sing two Holy Week selections.

Students and faculty are invited to attend.

This year, the orchestra will appear on Wednesday in a performance at the Mountain Home Air Force Base. This concert is the same as that being offered in Boise on Friday. The Friday concert is next to the last offering of the BJC chamber music concert series for the year. The final concert in this series is to be given on May 20 when the BJC resident string quartette and piano soloist and faculty member, Carroll Meyer, are to perform.

Change In Seasons Theme Featured At Formal Dance

At the BJC Spring Formal held Tuesday, April 12th, the decoration theme portrayed the current change in seasons.

The foyer was an artistic duplication of winter, with snow scenes, skiers, and a Christmas tree, while in the main part of the gym, the decorations indicated that "spring has sprung."

In the center of the gym was a huge fountain. Flowers climbed on trellises around the room and a blue and white false ceiling topped it all.

Music for the dance was furnished by Sammy Stevens and his orchestra.

During the intermission, Sharon Paul, mistress of ceremonies, introduced Ernest Hermann and Dore Moon who performed a Latin American cha-cha, a Viennese waltz, and an Apache tango.

The theme song, "Suddenly It's Spring," was sung by a quartette consisting of Carol Geisler, Diane Geisler, Susan Brickly, and Rocile Morris. They were accompanied by LaRona Johnson. Their encore was "You're Just in Love."

Sharon Paul also introduced the social committee, which is headed by Sharon Powers.

Chaperones for the affair were Dr. and Mrs. Donald Obce, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wain, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert deNeufville.

The dance was well attended by students and alumni.

Author To Speak On African Scene

On Friday morning, April 22, at 9:30, students will have an opportunity to hear a lecture on Africa by an authority with years of varied, first-hand experience on the continent.

Dr. Emory Ross, who is being sponsored in Boise by the Boise Committee on World Affairs for a Thursday evening speech, will speak in the auditorium.

The entry about Dr. Ross in Who's Who in America lists an impressive number of activities, his present ones including the chairmanship of the Phelps-Stokes fund board of trustees and the Committee for African Students in North America.

He is the author of several books on Africa.

One of the most coveted scholarships, the Panhellenic, was recently awarded to Judy Bonnell in competition with 42 other applicants.

Judy, a sophomore at BJC majoring in education and foreign languages, plans to enter the University of Idaho next fall.

She is the daughter of Dr. Dan Bonnell, of the life sciences department.

The award will be formally presented at a Panhellenic breakfast on May 1.

Scholarships Available

Four scholarships are currently available to sophomores who plan to continue their college studies. It was announced by Mr. William Underkofler, chairman of the BJC scholarship committee. They are the following:

A LAUGHING MATTER...

What ever became of the person with a sense of humor?

At the present time, there seem to be precious few who possess this characteristic which not only endears one to his friends, but also helps one to surmount the frustrations those that are petty and those of magnitude which plague everyone, every day of his life.

Lack of humor, and lack of good sportsmanship have been deplorably in evidence this Spring, particularly at the times of pledging activities and initiations. Traditionally, college life has been associated with various sorts of club-joining and, along with this, various sorts of mock trials and contrived tribulations to which the tyro is subjected before he is admitted into the select groups.

Throughout the past weeks, pledging has been conducted by all of the BJC clubs. Unfortunately, the tolerance and good-sportsmanship which ought to mark these pledging periods, have been sadly lacking. There has been little evidence of a sense of humor among either the people taking part in the pledging and initiations or those watching the antics of the initiates.

In last week's initiation of new drama club members, extremely good sportsmanship was exhibited by the pledges.

This same commendation cannot justly be applied to the students who watched. Some of the watchers were apathetic; some jeered.

Obviously, organizations are not the only things of importance in college. Automatically, they take a subordinate seat to academics, however, BJC students ought to learn to be a little tolerant of their peers, and consider that if a student thinks joining a particular organization is worth the indignities he must undergo to become a member, then they ought not only to tolerate, but respect, his courage and his sense of humor.

Even some of those students who have had the honor of being selected to join various service organizations have given no particular evidence of the sense of humor and friendliness which will be essential to them as members.

A great part of the fun of belonging is remembering one's own pleading and initiation, and planning initiations for new members. Many who are prospective service club members seem to ignore the tradition of the "lowly pledge" and perform only the barest minimum of tasks for the old members.

Where is the good, old-fashioned sense of humor? It is a very necessary commodity. CB

TAKE CREDIT INVENTORY

This is the season of the year when sophomores should take inventory of their credits and give particularly careful consideration to their subject majors, weighing them against the requirements in their chosen field of upper-division study.

Experience of BJC graduates indicates that students may expect to have their credits readily accepted in any college or university in the country. The college has been fully accredited since 1941.

However, in transferring to another institution, it is mandatory to follow a prescribed curriculum. Jumping from one curriculum to another usually results in loss of credits.

Dean Chathurn has noted the three areas of difficulty which may be encountered when transferring to an upper-division college.

(1) Changing major studies; (2) possession of the required 64 credit hours; (3) a sufficiently high grade point average. (Some colleges require a B average, some a C. The D average has little value in transfer.)

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"— NAW, IT'S TO KEEP US FROM SNEAKIN' OUT — HE GIVES A REAL LOUSY LECTURE."

Student of the Week

Vernita Haas

Vernita Haas, psychology and physical therapy major, was born in Los Angeles, California, and raised on the Oregon and Nevada boundary.

She is past president of the Wesleyan club, treasurer for the Golden Z's, and has been a baton twirler at BJC for two years. Vernita is presently in "Who's Who in Baton Twirling," representing Idaho, and she teaches baton twirling. She is a member of the National Honor society.

Playing the accordion is one of her pastimes. She says she enjoys all her courses and teachers.

Vernita plans to go to the University of Colorado next year.

Cubans Make Bid For U.S. Tourists

A recent letter from the Students' Travel Bureau in Cuba indicates that, although the news reports from that country are filled with political tension and not a little violent action, the people of Havana are lonesome for their North American tourist guests.

Havana's proximity (less than 100 miles from the tip of Florida) plus the year-round carnival spirit has always made it a favorite playground for visitors to the south and voyagers on the Caribbean.

Since the Castro affair, Havana's streets have been noticeably free of "Nordamericans."

Now, however, the welcome mat is out, and the Students' Travel department is offering low, low rates to travellers.

Hotel accommodations, they said, may be obtained for two dollars a day, and the day's three meals for a total of two fifty. Airplane tickets for students have been cut 20 percent.

Mr. J. L. Eberle, a Boise attorney who recently returned from a trip which included a short stop-over in Havana, said that the lack of tourists made the city appear to be almost deserted.

Mr. Eberle and his wife were graciously received, he said, and staff members in the hotels and shops appeared more than solicitous. However, he added, armed guards were present everywhere and in the usually gay and popular Hotel Nacional, where they stopped, they were the sole occupants of one entire wing of the city's largest hotel.

While businessmen are understandably anxious for the return of the tourists, the tension which exists in Cuba makes travelers wary. Mr. Eberle said that, while he was there, the huge and beautiful lobby of the Hotel Nacional "could have been used as a bowling alley."

BJC Becomes Testing Center

BJC was again the testing center for the National Office Management Association (NOMA) tests Thursday, April 14. Hour-long tests in machine calculation, bookkeeping, typing, general office clerical, stenography and business fundamentals were given to anyone, students or office workers, who were interested in obtaining a NOMA certificate of proficiency issued to those who pass any test. Nine schools and 216 students participated.

The Boise chapter of the National Office Management Association has publicized the value of the certificates among its members and is acquainting the businessmen throughout the valley with the value of hiring individuals who hold certificates.

Mrs. Vina Bushby and Mr. Parish were in charge of the arrangements.

Mr. Phil Dolph, Speech Instructor, Is Featured Teacher of the Week

"I grew up in a museum," said Mr. Phil Dolph, speech instructor at BJC.

"I'll qualify that," he went on.

Mr. Phil Dolph

"It was a fine-arts museum, and my father was director of it, in Mary Hill, Washington, where I was raised."

After finishing high school, Mr. Dolph served in the Marine Corps, then went to Linfield college in McMinnville, Oregon, where he earned his bachelor of arts degree in English. At the University of Oregon, he earned his master's degree in speech. He also attended Oregon State college for a time.

For seven years he taught in high schools in Oregon.

Mr. Dolph is in his second year of teaching at BJC, where he teaches courses in debate, discussion, speech, and English composition.

He has taken trips with the debate team this year to Oregon, Utah, California, and to the University of Idaho at Moscow.

In his leisure time he likes to play chess, and says that he is somewhat of a rockhound. He is also interested in drama and was active in drama departments throughout college.

Of Idaho, he says that he has become accustomed to the climate but, being a webfoot from Oregon, he misses the summer rain.

CAMPUS QUERY

By Barbara Birkett

Do you think that extra-curricular activities are a necessary part of college life?

Carolyn Teuber: Yes, because social adjustment is a necessary part of life.

Maradee Verburg: Yes. A person should learn more than just factual things; they should learn how to get along with people. Extra-curricular activities will aid in this development.

Ruth Young: Yes. Why study books? Study people.

Dave Frischler: Yes, school would be dead without them.

Earl Boen: Yes, they help to apply concepts learned in school to life.

Paul Fusselman: Yes, school can't be all dryness, it has to have flavor.

Karen Vanderford: I think they are important, but I don't participate in them because I don't have time.

Chuck Mylander: Only if it is something you want to do, not something just to go along with the crowd.

Jim Scanlon: Sure, we need something to break the monotony.

Maxine Andrews: For 18 and 19-year-olds, yes. They need them for part of their cultural development.

Golden Z's Run Cooked Food Sale

The Golden Z club will hold a cooked food sale in the administration building hall next Thursday, April 21.

The sale is part of the club's campaign to provide funds for the World University Service, a program designed to aid in fields of education, health, etc.

AWS Holds Sale

The Associated Women Students held a candy and cookie sale last Thursday in the Administration building hall.

The proceeds will be used for the Spring Tea, which is an opportunity for all high school girls from the Boise Valley to visit the BJC campus and get a "preview" of college life.

Classroom Classics

It was one of those blistering days I had called on a student to read aloud a brief paragraph from an essay. This he did, laboriously. When he finished, I asked him to comment on the significance of the passage which he had just read. His earnest reply brought even the sleepiest student to an hilarious awakening. For he said, "I am sorry, sir, but I wasn't listening."

IS IT WORTH MY TIME?

There are practical advantages to summer school.

Among them, is the opportunity to top off a full semester, sometimes even a full year, from the college course.

Courses are taught on an accelerated basis, with classes meeting daily, but enrollment is small enough so that each student receives a great deal of individual attention.

Credit hours, to a student, are as valuable as money in the bank.

Here are a few suggestions for the summer months:

1. ANY STUDENT can accelerate his course, or make up lost credit hours.

2. ANY HIGH SCHOOL graduate can take a long stride into his college career by gaining as much as twelve credit hours in such courses as English, history, the sciences and mathematics.

3. ANY TEACHER with an elementary professional certificate can acquire twelve of the eighteen credit hours required for certificate renewal.

4. ANYONE interested in furthering his education is welcome to enroll in the classes listed.

U.I. Boise Classes Set For Summer

Upper division summer courses, under the auspices of the University of Idaho, will be held, beginning June 13, on campus.

Mr. James Defenbach, administrator of the Boise division of the U. of I. summer program, said that the classes would be limited to junior and senior college offerings, and would include courses within the areas of business, social sciences, education and humanities.

A listing of the subjects available to Boise students, he said, as well as the schedule for registration, will be completed and published in the first part of May.

Office of admissions for the U. of I. summer program is located in the Administration building of BJC—room 114. Students interested in the University's upper-division courses may make query there. The office is open every week day.

According to the presently-planned schedule, students will be permitted to enroll for a maximum of six upper-division credits, Mr. Defenbach said.

The U. of I. summer program credits are transferable to any college or university, he said, or may be applied as residence credits for students wishing to continue their upper-division work in the university's program, either in Boise or Moscow, through the school year.

All of the U. of I. summer program classes will be held on the BJC campus, and all will be scheduled for the morning hours.

The U. of I.'s Boise program will permit any student to complete all of the junior years, and one semester of the senior year in Boise.

After several several autonyms had been given for the word "jubilant" in the sixth-grade spelling hour, one little boy added: "Oh, I know what you mean now — It's like jubilant delinquency."

New Welding Shop In Voc. Ed. Dept. Is Required By Industrial Expansion

With the rapid industrial expansion of the Northwest and the demand for highly skilled technical workers in the current defense program, the BJC vocational department is rapidly expanding its installations to train and test welders.

Classes are now running six

The final semester of the senior year must be taken in-residence at Moscow, in order to obtain a U. of I. degree. As an alternate to the regular school season, Mr. Defenbach said, the final semester may be completed in two summer-school sessions of resident study at Moscow.

WINNING TRACK MEN

So far this year the team has entered two track meets—the NNC Invitational and the BJC Invitational meets. The BJC team was the winner of both meets.

BJC Team Wins In Invitational

The Broncos ran up 70 points as they took their own invitational at the Bronco stadium last Thursday. Northwest Nazarene tied for second with Eastern region. Each had 41½ points.

College of Idaho was fourth with 18 points.

BJC's Gary Bonar set a new record in the discus, of 143 feet, topping the old record of 125 feet.

Bonar also tied with Marty Sharp in the high jump, with 6 feet 1 inch, which is also a new record.

To be employed as a welder for very nearly all government projects, the student must be able to pass specific examinations.

With the addition of new testing equipment BJC will be one of three locations in the Northwest capable of testing welders. Mr. Buchanan, the welding instructor, has been qualified to give these examinations.

CAMPUS STYLES

Last night my dog, Freddy, ate a dollar bill. That's one-sixth the price of a good badminton set. I guess I don't need one anyway. Freddy would just eat the birdies. That's why today I'm attacking all spoiled pets. They take advantage of you (me). Especially spoiled dogs.

First, dogs bluff you out by barking wildly to see if you'll run or tell them to shut up (I ran).

Then they growl. If your knees shake, they know they've got you. From that time forth, it's you they come to, begging, at the dinner table.

Dogs always look so sweet and innocent at about dinner time every day. Freddy looks up at me and smiles. "If you don't give me part of that chicken leg I'm going to bite your leg off" (No one else sees this but me). He's going to get me to reduce one way or another.

You will reduce your worries if you go down to C. C. Anderson's and take a look at the summer blouses and tea shirts. Don't let your dogs eat your dollar bills. Be superior! Look sharply at C. C. Anderson's for summer wear and look sharp!

Bronc Nine Takes Five Straight Wins

BJC's Broncos defeated the Weber Wildcats three times, Saturday afternoon and, as a result, carry five straight wins, with no losses, in the Intermountain Conference baseball league.

The first game was a continuation of the game which was cancelled on account of rain, Friday. The game was tied three-all when the rain began to fall. The Broncos won 10-7, and then took the double header from the Wildcats with scores of 9-0 and 9-3.

In the first of the double header, Jim McCaffery belted two homers, and Mahlon Maxwell and Allan

Dougal hit homers in both games.

Pat House fanned 10 Wildcat batters, and allowed only three hits in the first game. Dougal scored one run ahead of him to start off a six-run first inning. Then McCaffery's homer marked up three runs.

Maxwell hit home in the third to score McCaffery, and then McCaffery hit his second home run in the fifth frame.

Dougal blasted his second circuit blast of the day in the final game, with Don Nelson on base. Then Maxwell homered in the fifth, scoring John Achenberger and McCaffery.

Lavern Larson worked the mound in the final game and gave up five hits.

ISC Presents Variety Show

The Idaho State college variety show was presented in the BJC auditorium Friday, April 8, at 11:30.

The program presented comedy, singing and dancing acts in the usual college variety show style.

The most popular acts were Brent Thomas, comedian; Beverly Redman, singer; Dixie Hunt, pantomimist; a girls modern dance quartet; and a can-can chorus.

Other acts in the show were Joy Grow, singer; Kay Rosier, tap dancer; Jim Miller, impersonator; and Reed and Roy Zitting, folk singers.

BJC graduate, Jackie Rivett, was a capable mistress of ceremonies. Miss Rivett's deadpan delivery of lines was riotous.

The show was well attended and enjoyable.

The BJC variety show will exchange with ISC on April 28th.

Choir Presents Concert

The Vandaleers' concert choir, from the University of Idaho, will appear Tuesday, April 19, at 8:00 p.m., in the BJC auditorium.

The choir is conducted by Glen R. Lookery, and will be accompanied by instrumentalists.

Tickets will be sold at the door. Admission is 50c for students, 75c for adults.

"Why don't you settle the case out of court?" said an Irish judge to the litigants before him.

"Sure, that's what we were doing, my lord, when the police came and interfered."
